INTRODUCTION

you should start on your learning journey? If you've answered yes to any of these questions, then you're in the right place. This module is for you.

Welcome to Salesforce! Salesforce is game-changing technology, with a host of productivity-boosting features, that will help you sell smarter and faster.

As you work toward your badge for this module, we'll take you through these features and answer the question,

“What is Salesforce, anyway?”

What Is Salesforce?

Salesforce is your customer success platform, designed to help you sell, service, market, analyze, and connect with your customers.

Salesforce has everything you need to run your business from anywhere. Using standard products and features, you can manage relationships with prospects and customers, collaborate and engage with employees and partners, and store your data securely in the cloud.

So what does that really mean? Well, before Salesforce, your contacts, emails, follow-up tasks, and prospective deals might have been organized something like this:

OVER VIEW :

In this project,

- Build a Lightning app, add tabs, and customize page layouts.
- Create custom objects and fields for the app.
- Define relationships between objects.
- Import data and test the app.

Milestone 1- Create Salesforce Org:

Creating Developer Account Creating a developer org in salesforce.

A screenshot of a web browser showing the Salesforce Developer Edition Signup page. The browser's address bar displays "developer.salesforce.com/signup". The page has a blue header with the word "framework" and a blue sidebar on the left. The main content area is white and contains a form with the following fields: "Role" (a dropdown menu set to "Developer"), "Company*" (a text box containing "Dr.Kalaigmar Government Arts College,Kulithalai"), "Country/Region*" (a dropdown menu set to "India"), "Postal Code*" (a text box containing "639120"), and "Username*" (a text box containing "gk45@gmail.com"). Below the "Username*" field, there is a note: "Your username must be in the form of an email address (it does not have to be real). It must be unique and cannot be associated with another Salesforce login credential. Read more about username recommendations.". Below this note is a checkbox labeled "I agree to the Main Services Agreement – Developer Services and Salesforce Program Agreement." which is checked. At the bottom of the form, there is a blue button labeled "Sign me Up". The browser's taskbar at the bottom shows the Windows logo, search icon, and several application icons. The system tray on the right shows the temperature as 33°C, Haze, and the time as 12:33 PM.

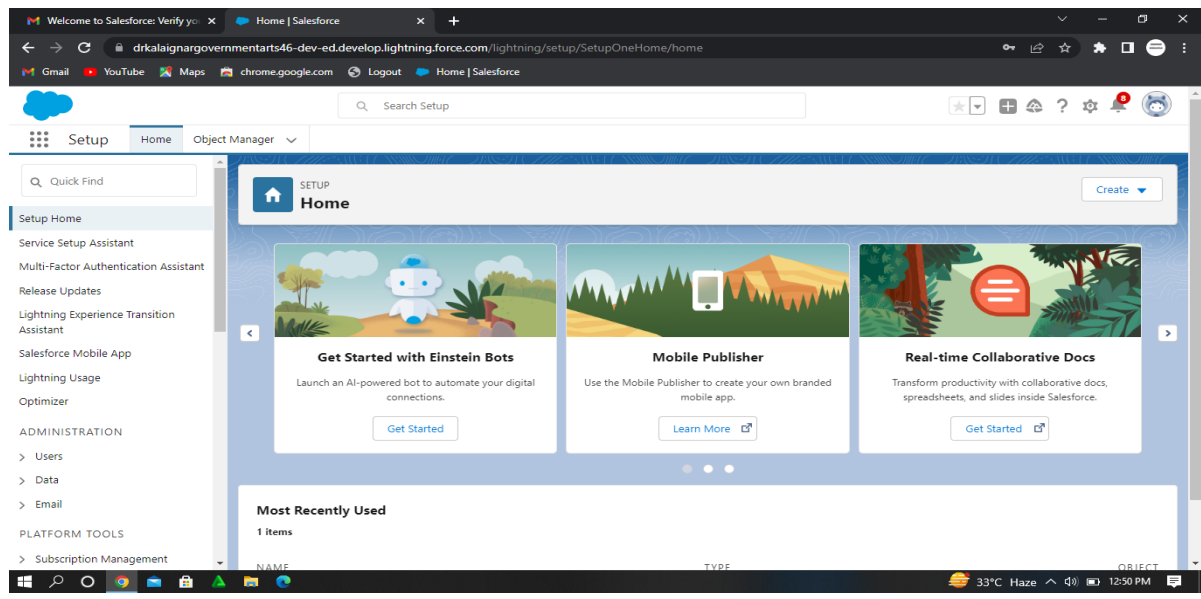

Account Activation.

ADVANTAGES & DISADVANTAGES

The main advantages of retailers can be described as follows:

1. Less Capital Requirement

It does not require huge investment to start retail business. Retailers buy goods from wholesalers in small quantity and sell to ultimate customers. It does not need large space to store goods. So, retailing can be commenced with little investment.

2. More Profit Margin

There is fixed margin of profit for wholesalers. Generally they earn 3% to 8% profit on sale. But there is no fixed margin for retailers, shopkeepers may fix profit margin up to 20% in some cases.

Drawbacks Or Disadvantages Of Retailers:

The main disadvantages of retailers can be described as follows:

1:High Marketing Cost

Retailers should make investment in decoration of shop and display of goods to attract more customers. So, it requires more marketing or advertising cost than wholesalers.

2:Selling Skill Required

It requires good selling skill to attract customers. Retailers should possess the art of good communication and convincing power to influence consumers.

3. Very High Competition

Another disadvantage of retailing is that there is tough competition in the market because several retailers sell similar types of products. So, it is difficult to remain in the competitive environment.

4. No Economies Of Buying

Retailers buy small volume of products from wholesalers. So, they miss the opportunity to enjoy the benefit of economies of buying.

CONCLUSION

In this course we have explored the meaning of the terms retailing, marketing and marketing communications. We have also considered the importance of the marketing mix and identified the different communication tools that a retailer might use to interact and communicate with their target customers. You have been introduced to a few theoretical concepts and ideas, which have been illustrated using real world examples and cases in retailing.

You have been introduced to some of the key areas of marketing communications – the message, the media and the communication tools. You have considered the basics of the communication model that underpins the development of marketing communication messages. You have also explored what it takes to develop a communication message, how to use communications to build a brand and the characteristics of the different media that might carry marketing communications. In addition, you have identified a range of communication tools which make up the marketing communication mix.

The course has also aimed to introduce the importance of marketing and communication from a retail perspective.

FUTURE SCOPE

Retailing has a very wide scope. It is one of the fastest growing industries in India and is providing employment opportunities to many people. Retailing provides employment in two ways. Firstly, it provides entrepreneurship opportunities to the people and secondly, it provides employment to so many people who cannot own the retail stores.

With the increase in the purchasing power of the people and the rural reach of the retailers, the scope of retailing has increased manifold. The scope of retailing can be viewed from the two viewpoints. One from the retailer's, i.e., the entrepreneur's perspective and the other from the employee's perspective.

1. Retailer's Perspective:

From the retailer's perspective, retailing can include anything that the retailer wishes to sell. It may be goods or services. These may include goods such as mobiles, computers, electronics, readymade garments, textiles and clothing, jewellery, books, paintings, medicines, stationery, watches, or may include services such as catering, hospitality, hospitals etc.

However, in certain cases permission in form of license is required to be obtained from the government. In such cases the retailer will have to comply with all the legal formalities before starting a business. For example, a license is required to operate a chemist's shop. Hence, the retailer must possess the required qualifications and hence may apply for the license.

2. Employee's Perspective:

Retailing has provided tremendous opportunities of employment. The retailers operating at a small level required small number of employees to help them in business. These employees were appointed as salesmen, cleaners, cashiers, etc. by the retailers. But with the increase in the scope of operations and the growth of retailing, there has been tremendous change in the industry.

Now the retailers operate at bigger levels having separate departments for everything such as finance, marketing, advertising and sales, human resource development, etc. Hence, the retailers provide enormous opportunities to the employees.
